

Publication Information

Congratulations again on your accepted manuscript. Here is some general information concerning SIAM's publication process. If you have any questions regarding your paper, please feel free to contact us.

Correspondence: All further correspondence concerning the publication of your paper should be directed to siads@siam.org. Be sure to keep us informed if you change your email address (as well as your postal address or fax or phone) or if you will be away from your office for any length of time while your paper is in production and while reprints are being processed.

We will send all correspondence, including email about electronic proofs, to you, the "corresponding author," unless you tell us to send them to a co-author.

Publication: Papers accepted for publication in a SIAM journal are copy edited, corrected, and published electronically an average of three to four months after they are accepted. There are exceptions. For example, papers accepted for a Special Issue are published on the same date as all other articles accepted for the issue.

Proofs: Once your paper has been edited, galley proofs will be available to you in PDF format. Please return your corrected proofs as soon as possible. Papers are published in the order that they are completed; the sooner you return your corrections, the sooner your paper will appear. If it is necessary for co-author(s) to proofread the article as well, you must arrange to send a copy yourself and merge all corrections onto one set of proofs. Notify SIAM if there will be any delays.

Note on Revisions: We recognize that it is sometimes necessary to make minor alterations to a paper at the galley stage. Note, however, that authors' alterations to galleys are costly and time consuming and can lead to the introduction of errors. Substantial revisions to the accepted version of your article at any stage of production will be referred to a member of the journal Editorial Board for approval, which may cause a delay in publication. SIAM reserves the right to veto nonessential changes or charge you for extensive alterations not necessitated by SIAM's or the typesetter's errors.

Final Electronic Files: The final PDF file will be sent to the corresponding author following the paper's publication. Questions regarding these electronic files can be addressed to blythe@siam.org.
